- c. Single-phase induction motors. Sizes 11, 12, 21, 22, 31, 32. Sizes 31 and 32 were designed as three-phase motors in 1949, and have now been adapted as single-phase motors.
- Drawing-board work on these projects is expected to be complete by the middle 2. of January 1951. Work on the production of the machine tools themselves will probably occupy the office until July 1951.
- Other tasks recently completed by the design office include: 3.
 - Manufacture of a new armsture winding machine for the Sachsenwerk, Redeberg.
 - Design of a starter circuit-breaker and the machine tools necessary for its manufacture. This circuit-breaker automatically switches on an auxiliary phase for two seconds to start the single-phase motors.
 - Design and manufacture of machine tools for the manufacture of the RVG 903 decimeter set by the Sachsenwork Radeberg.
- The work described in paragraphs 1 and 3 (b) was on behalf of the Russian 4. Directorate of SAG Kabel.
